●	NXP-12166	nuxeo-birt addon has conflict dependencies with nuxeo-connect-client	Marketplace package removes conflicting dependencies. It must be installed at last: installing another package after nuxeo-birt may re-add the conflicting dependencies.	Birt Reporting, Connect	5.7.2	Resolved	01/08/13	Julien Carsique	Julien Carsique	01/08/13
↓	NXP-9709	New VCS CachingMapper implementation using ehcache	To activate the cache, it must be added in the default-repository-config.xml that is used (usually from a template): <pre><ehcacheManager enabled="true" class="org.nuxeo.ecm.core.storage.sql.UnifiedCachingMapper"> <property name="ehcacheFilePath">/opt/vcs-ehcache.xml</property> </ehcacheManager></pre> Then an Ehcache configuration file (/opt/vcs-ehcache.xml in the example) must be provided. There are two possible examples for this file (see ticket comments): - one for XA, which provides the same transaction isolation semantics as the default cache (READ COMMITTED), - one without XA, which provides a transaction isolation of READ UNCOMMITTED but is faster. In any case the Ehcache configuration must be tuned the expected or measured usage, especially sizing and disk spill off. When starting with this cache the logs contain: INFO [UnifiedCachingRowMapper] Creating ehcache manager for VCS, using ehcache file: /opt/vcs-ehcache.xml This cache can be monitored using JMX, under the root "net.sf.ehcache".	Core SQL Storage	5.7.2	Resolved	17/07/12	Benoit Delbosc	Florent Guillaume	19/07/13
